

Whirling Winds Sweep Georgia; 4 Dead, 32 Hurt

Manchester, Ga., April 13 (AP)—Four persons were killed and 32 injured last night when powerful windstorms exploded chain-fash-ion across Georgia. Property damage was high.

Manchester, Zebulon and Griffin, in west central Georgia, were hit by tornadic winds. A pint-sized tornado cut through a rural area in Walker county in extreme northwest Georgia.

The Bethany community near McDonough, in central Georgia, was struck by strong winds a few hours later. Two Negro children were killed and five other members of the same family injured when their house folded under the impact of the wind.

The whirling winds first hit at Manchester at 6:30 p. m. (EST) then bounced northeastward and struck Zebulon and Griffin. Considerable property damage was reported at each storm area. No official estimate was available, but it was expected to run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

A Negro was crushed to death at Manchester by a toppling freight car, and a companion was seriously injured. The Red Cross said 19 others were injured when the winds destroyed 12 Negro homes and damaged 15 others.

Power lines were knocked down, trees snapped off and the walls of three main street business houses crumbled. City Manager William C. McClemore estimated Manchester damage at $100,000.

At Zebulon, a Negro was killed and two persons injured. Several tenant houses were destroyed. A peach packing shed and a canning plant were demolished and the courthouse was damaged.

The storm then hopped 12 miles to Griffin, where five persons were injured slightly and 20 to 25 homes damaged.

Roofs were lifted from several homes, a warehouse and the East Griffith Baptist church. A water tower was blown down and a textile mill damaged. None of the 250 workers in the mill was injured.

Members of the Women's Missionary Society heard the winds coming and ran from the Baptist church just before the roof cave in. All escaped unscathed.

The small tornado which hit Walker county did only minor damage.

The windstorms were accompanied by heavy rain and hail.

Blackout Of Moon Piped By Television

Dark Eclipse Is First In Over 100 Years

New York, April 13 (AP)—The moon made astronomical history last night.

It disappeared—for an hour. Scientists said the "black eclipse" was the first one like it here in more than 100 years.

The event also chalked up another 20th-century milestone—the advent of drawingroom sky-gazing.

The solar spectacle was piped into thousands of homes via television.

It appeared on screens in bars and taverns too, and touched off gripes by those who preferred their customary boxing and wrestling programs.

Authorities at Hayden Planetarium said that, as viewed in New York, the moon was completely blacked out, whereas in a normal full eclipse it shines with a dull red glow.

The last time a "black eclipse" took place was in 1844, the Planetarium said. There have been several full eclipses of the moon since then, the last one in 1945, but none of them black.

In a normal eclipse, the earth is squarely between the moon and the sun. But while the moon is in a shadow, it retains a dull glow from sun rays that bounce from the earth's atmosphere.

In a "black eclipse," an unusual cloud blanket surrounding part of the earth's surface prevents the refracted rays from reaching the moon, thus obliterating it from view.

Lean Year Looms Ahead For Britons; Tax Relief Skippy

London, April 13 (AP)—Another lean year stretched ahead for Britons today—a year of higher food prices and skippy tax relief.

The House of Commons gave overwhelming approval yesterday to the labor government's $15-304,000,000 budget for 1949-50. The vote was 302-3, with all conservatives and a handful of Laborites abstaining. The three negative votes were cast by Independents.

The budget, drawn up by Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer, was defended by him as the only way out to avert "the traying the trust of the people."

Cripps said the Labor government is "on the right road" toward recovery.

The budget calls for higher prices for rationed meat, cheese, butter and oleomargarine.

Memorial Services For Osborn Planned

Body Of Ex-Governor Due In Lansing Tonight

Lansing, Mich., April 13 (AP)—Michigan sadly prepared a welcome today for the arrival of a beloved statesman, former Governor Chase S. Osborn.

The body of the venerable political reformer and author, who died Monday at the age of 89, was to arrive here at 6:51 p. m. today after a brief stop in Detroit.

Accompanying the body is Mrs. Stella Osborn, 55-year-old companion, adopted daughter, then wife of the former governor over a period of 25 years. The adoption was voided shortly before their marriage Saturday.

Eight state policemen will carry the copper casket to the capitol rotunda at 9:30 tomorrow morning. Michigan legislators and all elective state officials will stand as honorary pallbearers on the block-long walk leading to the capitol's front entrance.

Members of the House and Senate will hold a memorial service at 1:30 in the afternoon while the body lies in state in the rotunda.

One of the speakers will be House Speaker Victor A. Knox of Osborn's home town, Sault Ste. Marie. Another will be Muri H. DeFoe, Charlotte publisher, who was secretary to the governor during his 1911-13 term. A third will be Managing Editor John Zabelka of the Sault Ste. Marie Evening News.

Osborn's body will be placed on a train for Sault Ste. Marie at 6:51 p. m. Thursday. A military guard of honor will accompany it.

Fire Hazards High In Michigan Woods

Lansing, April 13 (AP)—Michigan's woods are tinder-dry and in an extremely hazardous forest fire condition, the state conservation department warned today.

The forest fire hazard rating is up to 100, top figure in the numerical scale used to evaluate the danger.

An emergency proclamation by the governor, forbidding smoking and the building of camp fires in the danger areas is expected momentarily warning signs already have been printed in anticipation of the proclamation.

More than three times as many fires as last year have been reported already this spring, the department said.

Up until Sunday, 338 fires ravaging 6,507 acres were reported for the state. Since Sunday in-

Extra Money Sought To Buy 1,361 Planes For Floating Fliers

Military Men Expect No War In Next Year

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Washington, April 13 (AP)—A fight over naval aviation swirled today in the House around a record peacetime $16,000,000,000 Army-Navy-Airforce bill.

Backers of a bigger naval aviation force want to add about $300,000,000 to the bill to give the Navy more wings.

They include such influential members as Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the Armed Services committee, and Reps. Sikes (D-Pa.), Sheppard (D-Calif.) and Short (R-Mo.).

In advance of a showdown vote late today, they claimed enough support to raise the Navy's share of the big bill to at least $5,318,873,600, or $300,000,000 more than the appropriations committee has approved.

May Be Too Little

The extra money, in the form of contract authorization, would permit the Navy to acquire 1,361 new planes during the next fiscal year beginning July 1 instead of the 843 provided by the committee, Vinson said.

While the appropriations committee made no cut in budget bureau estimates for naval aviation for the 12 months, Vinson told newsmen the effect of the committee action would be to have 5,058 Navy planes at the end of 1953 instead of the 8,166 contemplated.

Rep. Short, top Republican member of the Armed Services committee, accused the appropriations group of having "cut the heart out of naval aviation."

There were no moves in sight to make other major alterations in the bill.

The bill came before the House with a statement from Rep. Mahon (D-Tex.), chairman of a subcommittee that wrote it, that "if war comes soon" the $16,000,000,000 will be too little.

The appropriations committee said top military leaders believe that the year starting on July 1 will not see the United States at war.

Grand Jury System Attacked In Lansing

Lawmakers Study Bill To Abolish Setup

Lansing, April 13 (AP)—State representatives were sharpening their tongues today for scheduled debate on a bill to abolish Michigan's unique one-man grand jury system.

The measure was expected to produce bitter criticism of the system from its opponents. It has been charged that the system puts too much power in the hands of one man, the grand juror.

Friends of the system were expected to be equally vehement in its defense. Their main line was expected to be that the system is efficient and that there is nothing wrong with it that cannot be corrected by the legislature.

Rep. John S. Piskiewicz (D-Hamtramck), sponsor of the repeal bill, exuded confidence as he prepared for battle. He says privately he has 64 votes in the House and 18 or 19 in the Senate, more than enough to pass it.

If the bill fails, the House judiciary committee is pledged to report out a condensation of two bills it has before it hedging the grand juror's power with limitations and safeguards.

Powers Cut Down Removal Of Factories In Germany

THE RUN IS ON—Smelt dipping extended through the morning hours yesterday as the annual run of the little fish got under way in streams around Escanaba, and the take came in tons at the local fish market. The scene above

Conquered Nation Moves To Self-Government

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, April 13 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France today announced a sharp cut in the number of factories to be removed from western Germany.

All or part of 159 plants are to be removed from the reparations list previously agreed upon. Expanding on the announcement from the state department, Secretary of the Army Royall told a news conference that a further three-power agreement will be made public soon prohibiting some German industries entirely and restricting others as a war-preventive measure.

Royall said this agreement will also ease present limitations on 10 industries. For one thing, German shipbuilding will be removed from the prohibited list. It will be permitted on a restricted basis.

Royall said Germany will welcome the decision to retain all or part of 159 plants previously scheduled to be knocked down and shipped to allied countries.

Embezzler Claims He Had Two Wives

Memphis Man Also Kept 2 Basketball Teams

Memphis, Tenn., April 13 (AP)—Curly-haired David Prager told police he embezzled thousands of dollars to support two wives and a pair of basketball teams.

Chief of Detectives M. A. Hinds said the dark, husky cashier of a Memphis coal company described his activities to police in a statement yesterday. Prager was arrested on an embezzlement warrant Monday as he stepped off a plane from Los Angeles.

The 29-year-old sports fan had his wives separated by almost the width of the continent, Hinds said—one in Los Angeles and the other in Memphis. Both basketball teams he sponsored were made up of Memphis amateurs.

Prager said he had taken $19,000 from the Hunt-Berlin Coal company before he left town late last month. A company audit, however, placed the figure at $27,762.

Hinds gave this account of the case:

Prager, who began working at the coal company in February, 1948, made a salary of $200 a month. He has been married to his Memphis wife two and a half years. They have a year-old son, Jerry.

Last January he married again, in Hernando, Miss., and took his wife, Mrs. Anita Coburn Prager, to Los Angeles to live.

He adopted a plan of spending his weekends in Los Angeles and the remainder of his time in Memphis. Meanwhile, he feted the two basketball teams in Memphis hotels, took them on road trips, and gave them presents when they won games.

Three-Day Summer Holiday Killed In Michigan Senate

Lansing, April 13 (AP)—Prospects of three nice three-day holidays in Michigan every summer dimmed in the Senate today.

The chamber seemed cool to a revision of the state's summer holiday schedule, but looked with tentative favor on a plan to postpone Labor Day one week.

The measure will be voted upon this afternoon.

The proposal is Senator Don Vander Werp's bill to designate the last Monday in May as Memorial Day (now May 30), make the second Monday in August Victory Day (a new holiday), move Labor Day from the first Monday to the second Monday in September and eliminate Armistice Day as a state holiday.

A Senate committee cut all that out except the Labor Day change and got the chamber's support during debate.

Legislators Study New Ferry Routes To Upper Peninsula

Lansing, April 13 (AP)—The legislature today was asked to appoint a special committee to investigate the possibility of two new ferry routes to the Upper Peninsula.

Rep. Louis E. Anderson (R-Northport) proposed the committee to study routes connecting Northport and Manistique and Frankfort and Menominee.

New U. S. Defense Setup Rapped By Secretary Of War

Washington, April 13 (AP)—The Air Force joined the Army today in publicly blasting the existing national defense set up as inadequate and expensive.

Secretary of Air Symington, appearing at a closed-door session of the Senate Armed Services committee Thursday, declared the present unification law "has not worked satisfactorily." Chairman Tydings (D-MD) made the testimony public today.

"We have tried out this half-measure organization and there is unanimous agreement that it is inadequate," Symington said. He added that former Secretary of Defense Forrestal "has constantly been a referee of three brawls as he tried to operate his job."

Little Kathy Will Be Buried Today In Her Easter Dress

San Marino, Calif., April 13 (AP)—Little Kathy Fiscus will be buried today in the frilly white dress that she had hoped to wear to church Easter Sunday.

In the small blue casket also lay the favorite doll of the three-year-old tot whose death in an old well became a world epic.

The Rev. Bertrand R. Crist will conduct the rites at the stone church of a mortuary at nearby Alhambra at 11 a. m. (2 p. m., Eastern Standard Time). He is the minister at the San Marino Congregational church—Kathy's church.

Dr. Frederick Newbarr, chief county autopsy surgeon, said Kathy died peacefully in a coma, a placid expression on her face. An autopsy report listed the cause of death as suffocation.

German Cook Gets Death Sentence In Murder Of 2 Boys

Bremen, Germany, April 13 (AP)—The death sentence was imposed yesterday on a 39-year-old ship's steward, Bobo Fries, for the murder of two young boys.

He was convicted by a German court after testifying that he slew the youngsters in 1945 and 1947 while possessed with "the urge to kill someone."

Fries also told the court he cut up the body of one of his victims and served some of the flesh to his family, telling them it was pork.

New Angle Checked In Milwaukee Crime

Chum Of Slain Patricia Tells About Threats

Milwaukee, April 13 (AP)—Counsel for Milton Babich, charged with first degree murder in the death of his bride's sister, planned to consult with the 10-year-old youth today about a story told police by a school chum of the slain Patricia Birmingham.

The story Carol Leszynski, 16, told police at Kenosha, Wis., yesterday caused Attorney Arthur Richter to obtain a delay in a preliminary hearing for Babich. The state accuses Babich with shooting Patricia, 16, and throwing her weighted body into the Milwaukee river last Feb. 10, five weeks before he eloped with her sister, Kathleen, then 17.

Babich has claimed the shooting was accidental—that he intended only to frighten Patricia so she would stop making remarks about Kathleen's pregnancy.

Lt. Max Kramer of the Kenosha police said Carol related that Patricia had told her, "Milton tried to get fresh with me." Carol did not elaborate on the nature of the incident, Kramer said. She appeared nervous and frightened, Kramer said.

Kramer said Carol told him: "I kind of blame myself for Pat's death. She told me Milton threatened her."

The girl then related Patricia had asked her advice on what to do about the incident, Kramer said, and Carol suggested she tell Kathleen. Carol was found at Kenosha yesterday, eight hours after she was reported missing from her home. She was taken back to Milwaukee and placed under the care of a physician.

County Board Rejects Recognition Of Union With One-Vote Margin

The Delta county board of supervisors by a 13 to 12 vote late yesterday rejected a motion to recognize a union of county employees through its representative, Emil Johnson, deputy sheriff, and president of Local No. 1159, affiliated with the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, AFL.

Heated debate marked the board's discussion prior to the vote, in which recognition of the union's spokesman was rejected by the narrow one-vote margin.

The union was organized by the court house employees after the board last October approved a budget which did not include pay increases requested by the employees. None of the county official are members of the union.

Ask Salary Boost

Wages continued to be the bone of contention in the controversy between the board and the court house employees, with the finance committee citing the county's inability to pay higher salaries, and the employees asking wages comparable to those paid for similar work by the city of Escanaba.

New salary requests were received from the employees, and tabled on recommendation of the finance committee. When the union president asked that the board recognize the union for collective bargaining, a motion to that effect was made by Supervisor Peter N. Logan of Escanaba, supported by Supervisor Adam Sinclair of Gladstone.

Prior to the vote the board was advised by Prosecutor J. Clyde McGonagle there is "nothing illegal" in the recognition of the union, although it could not enter into a contract with it. In a discussion concerning the possibility of a county employees' strike, the prosecutor said strikes against government are illegal.

Defeated 13 to 12

Supervisor Logan declared the board should not consider the possibility of a strike, but the possibility of union recognition bringing "better relationship between the employees and the county."

The vote on the motion to recognize the union representative was as follows:

No—Supervisors Joseph Casimir, Chester Feak, Fred Holmes, Howard Gierke, Edward LaMotte, Walter C. Lied, Peder Pedersen, Allen T. Mercier, Wynand Nieuwenkamp, Henry Hughes, C. W. Stoll, Omer Tanguay, Harold F. Gustafson. Total 13.

Yes—Supervisors Charles Schmidt, George Berg, E. W. Carlson, Tom Quinn, Carl B. Johnson,

Robert E. LeMire, Peter N. Logan, Walter Mannie, Charles Priestor, George Mathison, Adam Sinclair, Sam R. Wickman. Total 12.

Not voting—Charles Sedenquist.

Absent—Nevin Reynolds.

Cities County Deficit

The matter was brought before the board by Logan, chairman of the labor relations committee, who reported the committee recommended the board go on record recognizing the union, to meet with a union committee and confer on salary problems. If the union's salary requests were granted it would increase the county payroll about $4,000 a year, he said.

Stoll, finance chairman, said the county faces an estimated deficit of between $42,000 and $45,000 by the end of this year. He said the committee felt that although county salaries were low as compared with wages paid employees in other governmental units, the union's proposed salary schedule did not show what other counties were paying. The committee recommended the salary request be tabled and the committee will seek information on employees' salaries in other counties.

The union asked salary boosts to a figure for "comparable positions" salaries paid by the city of Escanaba. Court house deputies now paid $1,800 to $2,220 sought $2,700; clerk hire would be boosted from $1,000 to $2,100; stenographer in the agricultural agent's office from the present salary of $1,500 to $2,400; janitor from $1,560 to $2,160; undersheriff from $2,500 to $3,000; and deputy sheriffs from $2,400 to $3,000.

Theodore Ohlen, register of deeds, said the records would assist in the work of his office. Supervisors Wickman, Feak, Lied and Carlson were appointed to the committee.

Carbon copies of deeds recorded in the register of deeds office will be made and supplied to the townships and cities to aid in keeping assessor's books up to date on property transfers.

A proposal by Sup. Wynand Nieuwenkamp of Gladstone that an effort be made to have the present meets and bounds descriptions platted in all townships on a county-wide basis will be investigated by a special committee, to report back in June.

Walter A. Deloria of Garden was appointed a member of the county canvassing board to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Edward LaMotte of Garden, who was elected to the board of supervisors.

On recommendation of the finance committee $30 was appropriated for extra clerk hire in the treasurer's office; and $100 for the county's membership in the

NEW TEACHERS GET CONTRACTS

Six Contracts Approved
By School Board

Six contracts for new teachers were approved by the Escanaba board of education in meeting last night in preparation for the 1949-1950 school year. The resignations of 11 teachers were accepted.

The new teachers are as follows:

Sigrid Nelson of Manistique, graduate of Northern Michigan College of Education, primary department teacher.

Eleanor Hendrickson of Hubbell, graduate of Northern Michigan College of Education, to teach in the primary grades.

Geraldine Roberts of Fond du Lac, graduate of Stephens Point Teachers College.

Audrey Butt, Oshkosh State Teachers College graduate, to teach English and Latin in senior high school. Her home is at Larsen, Wis.

Jack Magnussen of Marinette, graduate of Whitewater, Wis., teachers college, to teach commercial subjects in high school.

Ray Peppers, Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan State College graduate, will teach agriculture in the veterans' training program.

The resignations accepted were those of John W. Morris, Marian Ellefson, Phyllis Weygand Morris, Jane Dutton, Mary Koser, Phyllis Reagan, Patricia Johnson, Mary Alice Rasche, Eileen Torphy, Shirley Oestreich and Phyllis Treptow Braun.

Supt. John A. Lemmer advised the board that in the coming school year it is expected that an additional kindergarten teacher will be needed at the Barr school, where enrollment in kindergarten will number about 50. It may be necessary to have a class room in the Barr school basement.

Aid Delta Farmers On Farm Building, Poultry Problems

Delta county farmers who have problems in farm building and in poultry are invited to contact the office of J. L. Heirman, county agricultural agent, so that farm visits can be arranged for Monday, April 18.

On that day J. M. Moore, extension poultryman of Michigan State college, and George Amundsen, extension agricultural engineer, will be in Delta county to work with the county agent on problems relative to farm buildings and poultry.

The day will be spent in farm visits, and Delta farmers wanting advice on problems on poultry or farm building problems are asked to notify the agent's office so they can be included in the itinerary.

Many Openings In Army For U.P. Men 17 to 35 Years Old

During the month of April, the U. S. Army has doubled its quota for recruits and will accept 410 Michigan men who can qualify for enlistment. There are many openings for Upper Peninsula men.

Recent publicity on the higher standards and qualifications for enlistment in the U. S. Army has created the impression among eligible young men who wish to volunteer, that there are no opportunities for immediate enlistments.

While it is true that the Army did raise the level of physical and mental requirements, these standards are not beyond the capabilities of the average young man. At the present time there are ample openings in the Army for men 17 to 35 years of age, without prior service, who are physically fit and can score 90 on the Army's General Classification Tests.

Aside from the fact that the Army has these higher mental-physical standards, it has not diminished any of the educational and promotional opportunities for recruits.

The April ceilings on Army enlistments now double last month's quota. Quotas for the Air Force remain the same. Only 162 Michigan men can be accepted for enlistment in the Air Force during April.

Veterans' Farm Training Now In Demand Locally

There are now 25 veterans receiving on-the-farm training through the Veterans' Institute, with a back-log of 50 applicants making up the current waiting list, it was reported to the Escanaba board of education last night. The report shows that at the end of March 83 veterans were in training locally, with 30 in trade and industry, 20 in apprenticeable occupations, and 25 in on-the-farm training. There has been an increase in the demand for training by veterans, and five applications are now pending approval by the state board.

It was also reported to the board that cooperative training of high school students is popular, with 23 students being trained by local business and manufacturing facilities. The training for students under the program ranges from office and clerical work to mechanics and production line activity.

Under the heading of adult education it was reported to the

TIE TREATING WILL EXPAND

C&NW Plant Will Hire
About 70 Men

The Chicago and North Western railway's tie treating plant will expand its operations this week with another shift that will furnish employment to about seventy men, H. L. Holderman, plant superintendent, said today.

Eighty men are now employed regularly on the single shift. The second shift will be started as soon as the new crew is organized this week.

Mr. Holderman said that the C. & N. W. wood preserving plant here now has 400,000 ties on hand. About one million more will be delivered by Upper Peninsula and Wisconsin producers during the season. Chief species of wood to be used are oak, beech, birch, maple and hemlock.

The double shift will remain in operation until about Sept. 1.

Johnson Appointed Truck Crane Sup't At Harnischfeger

Roy Johnson of Milwaukee has been appointed superintendent of the truck crane plant of the Harnischfeger corporation, Baxter Mitchell, general manager of the company's Escanaba operations, announced today.

Mr. Johnson was graduated from the University of Minnesota with a mechanical engineering degree. He has had much experience in the truck crane manufacturing field, and before coming to Escanaba was associated with the Bucyrus-Erie company. He is married and resides at 223 South 19th street.

school board that the program ended April 11, following a successful schedule that began Oct. 20, 1948. Fifteen classes were offered. In some cases a doubling of schedules was necessary because of the popular demand of

Townships, Cities May Aid Road, Health Funds

The cities of Escanaba and Gladstone and the 14 townships of Delta county are being called upon by the county road commission and the county health department to cooperate in helping finance county-wide road and public health programs.

The finance problems of the road department and the health department were brought before the board of supervisors in meeting yesterday.

William J. Karas, road superintendent-engineer, reported that to accomplish a four-year county road graveling program, and to match federal aid funds on a 50-50 basis, about $40,000 a year in local money is needed. It was suggested that this be appropriated by the townships and cities from sales tax diversion money, prorated by agreement between representatives of the cities and townships.

Dr. William O. Harrison, director of the Delta-Menominee health district, directed the attention of the supervisors to the $2,300 shortage in appropriation for Delta's share in the district health program. He suggested that the townships and cities appropriate, according to an agreed formula, from their liquor license revenue to make up this amount.

On the problem of road financing the matter was referred to the road committee, which will make a study and report at the June meeting.

Meetings of the city councils and commissions, and of the township boards will be required to pass on any appropriations agreed to, either from sales tax for road purposes, or from liquor license funds to make up the health department budget requirement.

Individually, supervisors from the townships unanimously indicated they would support appropriations for roads and health — if the cities will cooperate.

Chase S. Osborn Great Pioneer

CHASE S. OSBORN, former governor of Michigan who died Monday at his Georgia home at the age of 89, was frequently called the last of America's great pioneers. He was truly the Upper Peninsula's most distinguished native, friend of nine presidents, author, scholar, world traveler, politician, nature lover and vigorous defender of human rights.

The life of Chase Osborn embraced a fabulous career, a story as dramatic as anything ever conceived by the most imaginative fiction writers. He is credited with discovering the source of light of the firefly. He is the father of Michigan's presidential primary. He discovered the Moose mountain iron range in Canada, from which he made a tremendous fortune only to give most of it away in various philanthropies.

It has been said of Mr. Osborn that he was the world's most vigorous traveler, the only human being to visit every continent and most of the islands, almost every country, state, colony and dependency in the world. He was a prolific writer on extremely varied subjects and until recent years, Mr. Osborn was a very popular public speaker, so popular, in fact, that it is reported he turned down twice as many requests for public appearances as most public speakers of his day received.

Chase S. Osborn has left a great heritage to the American people and particularly to the residents of his home state of Michigan.

Clean Up, Paint Up And Fix Up

MAY 8 to 14 has been designated as Clean Up, Paint Up and Fix Up week in Escanaba.

Under the sponsorship of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, a campaign will be conducted to make Escanaba a more attractive community. Escanaba is a good town but, of course, there is always room for improvement.

Streets, alleys and lawns must be cleared of the winter's accumulation of old papers, sand, ashes and other rubbish. The campaign should inspire the launching of that long-deferred paint up job. Now is the time to start that home remodeling job.

The campaign doubtless will stimulate business activity. It will mean more sales of paint, building supplies, household goods, lawn seed and countless other materials. It will provide more jobs.

Equally important will be the beautification of Escanaba, making it a community where families will want to stay their entire lifetime. It will help to make Escanaba a good place in which to work, do business and live.

Get ready for Clean Up, Paint Up and Fix Up week May 8 to 14.

"Open Rule" For T-H Repeal Bill

THE tip-off of what might be expected when the administration's bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley law comes before congress was given this week by the house rules committee.

The house committee voted unanimously to send the bill to the floor for debate under an "open rule." This procedure is directly opposite to what Chairman Lesinski of the labor committee has wanted.

The "open rule" will permit members to offer an unlimited number of amendments to the bill. Lesinski wanted a "closed" rule, which would bar all amendments except those approved by the labor committee.

As the congressional term grinds on, it has become very evident that the original plan to kick out the T-H bill and supplant it with the old Wagner act, in toto, is deadlier than a dodo. In fact, it is not even certain that the T-H bill will be repealed at all. And if it is repealed, its successor will probably bear a greater resemblance to the Taft-Hartley act than to the Wagner act, which was weighted heavily in favor of unionism.

Repeal of the T-H bill was supposed to be one of the first acts of the new congress. The session now is many months advanced and it is beginning to look as though congress is not so anxious to change the labor law of the nation as the union bosses had believed.

In actual case, if a new labor law is written in this session, it will recognize the rights of the public to a far greater degree than the Wagner act did.

Kathy Fiscus Story Banned By Communists

THE world wide interest in the tragic death of Kathy Fiscus, three year old Santa Marino, California, child who fell 100 feet into a 14-inch well-shaft shows that human compassion is pretty much the same the world over.

The heroic but futile efforts to recover Kathy alive from the well shaft was followed closely by not only millions of Americans, but residents of Australia, England, Sweden and many other countries as well. Everyone prayed and hoped that Kathy would be recovered alive, even though there was very little reason to believe that the little child could be saved.

Only behind the iron curtain was the story of Kathy Fiscus snubbed. The Communist-directed press banned the story as "without educational value and purely sensational." Undoubtedly the story would have tugged at the heartstrings of the Czechs, Russians, Poles and others locked behind the iron curtain, too, if the people of those lands had been told of the human drama unfolding at Santa Marino.

It is unfortunate that the Communists have chosen to lock out news of the western world. Stories such as that of the drama of Santa Marino would help to convince the people of Communist lands that America does have a heart and a soul. To do so, of course, would prejudice the Communist program of hate and bitterness directed against the western democracies, and it is for that reason that the story of Kathy Fiscus was not told to the subjects of Red-dominated countries.

Other Editorial Comments

MICHIGAN'S UNITED FUND (Milwaukee Journal)

Last February Michigan's United Health and Welfare Fund made its first state-wide collections an answer to the multiplicity of single campaigns put on by the various "causes" that appeal to the public. Wisconsin citizens should be interested in the record of that effort. Did the drive go over? Did it accomplish what it set out to accomplish?

From the standpoint of collections, there is no question that the drive was a success. More money was collected for participating agencies than these agencies had ever before received. Since the single drive had the backing of industry, farm organizations and labor, it was only natural that collections would be good.

From the standpoint of minimizing the number of drives, it was less successful, though not through any fault of its own. The "big five" among the national health and welfare agencies definitely refused to participate. These agencies, with combined Michigan quotas of about $6,000,000, continue to go their own way. Most Michigan cities will therefore again this year have at least seven drives for funds. There will be the community chest, the TB, the heart, the cancer, the crippled children and the March of Dimes drives, as well as the United Fund collection.

The question, then, is whether, despite this situation, Michigan's united appeal is worth while. It seems to us that it is. This state organization is merely going through the same kind of growing pains community chests went through in their early days. When the united community appeal was being developed, there were important "holdouts" among agencies. One by one the larger agencies learned that they would be better off within the chest than outside. This came about, not because of any "sabotage" from chest people but because of a spontaneous though gradual change in the public attitude toward the holdouts.

If the United Fund continues, we believe public opinion in Michigan will gradually force the big five to adopt a less independent and arbitrary attitude, not only in Michigan but elsewhere.

DOG BITE REMEDIES (Grand Rapids Press)

Missouri letter carriers appear likely to get some relief from a long-standing source of grievance—the dog that nips mailmen. That state's legislature is said to look favorably on a bill that will make dog owners liable for any damages their pets cause to persons while "on or in a public place, or lawfully on or in a private place, including the property of the owners of such dog." The letter carriers are for the bill. They ought to be—in St. Louis alone 83 of them were bitten by dogs last year.

But in St. Louis, Grand Rapids or elsewhere the dog that doesn't know a friend when he sees one is a constant menace to mailmen, garbage collectors, delivery clerks and others. We remember the time a dog nipped a garbage collector. That was in the days before Grand Rapids had "curb service" garbage collection. But for this particular dog's owner curb service started right then. The collector simply would not risk another run-in with the dog. Come to think of it—the family kept Fido securely tied-up after that. The garbage collector's idea seems even better than the one they are about to try in Missouri; the prospect of having the garbage pile up or of not getting a much-anticipated letter is likely to bother the average dog-owner more than the prospect of a damage suit.

Learn all the ropes of your business and there is less chance of your being tied down.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

COLLECTIVE NOUNS CAUSE CONFUSION

This letter is typical of many that reach me regularly. Mrs. L. A. D. writes: "I am membership chairman of the Business and Professional Women's club. I have been severely criticized for wording an invitation thus: 'The Business and Professional Women's Membership Committee are having a George Washington tea Sunday, February 20, three to five o'clock. We should like you, as a charter member, to be our guest.'"

"They tell me that 'committee' is singular, and that I am quite wrong in wording the invitation in the plural. Please set us straight on this."

A. Such words as committee, class, company, club are called collective nouns. They have a peculiar quality: While they are singular in form, they stand for numbers of persons collected together.

Now I want to emphasize again that collective nouns may be treated as either singular or plural. Here's the rule: If the group is thought of as a unit, use the singular.

Atlantic Pact Needs Support

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—The birthing of the Atlantic pact was accomplished in an atmosphere of surgical precision and dispatch. Now little more than a week old, the infant has a pale and dubious look.

It will live. But how will it live? That question is particularly pertinent in the present atmosphere of Washington, which is niggling, haggling, mean, suspicious.

Practically everyone seems to be concerned with how much butter can be traded for how many guns.

That is the tone in the senate, where the snarling and snapping remind the spectator of nothing so much as the zoo at feeding time. Too often, from the downtown end of the capital, the pact has been analyzed in lawyer-like terms of what provision X and provision Y mean or, more often, do not mean.

A remarkable letter has come to me from L. B. Vernon, president of a company in Pittsburgh. He talks about the niggling, haggling approach and, incidentally, he blames columnists and commentators for contributing to public despair and confusion. I'm afraid that at times we must plead guilty to that charge.

AMERICANS WILL SACRIFICE

But the important point Vernon makes is that the American people want something to cheer about, something that will stir their hope and touch the deep strain of idealism in the American character. To present it in terms of guns and/or butter is not enough.

If appealed to, Americans will make sacrifices. The expenditures for European aid today are a heavy burden. But most Americans want to look forward to a prospect of hopeful change.

There is such a prospect, this Pittsburgh manufacturer says, and he points to Justice Owen Roberts and the Atlantic union committee. The Roberts committee advocates organic political federation of the nations comprising the Atlantic union. The Atlantic pact would be merely a useful springboard.

"Is this too startling, too daring, too unpalatable to warrant comment?" Vernon writes. "Why not let the customers decide that? Do you imagine the public believes the irreconcilables it faces are ever going to be reconciled without something daring? I can only speak for my own personal contact with Americans—largely business people—but I don't believe that Americans are any longer so wedded to nationalism as to prefer it to their economic well-being, so say nothing of their freedom."

"The idea of integrating the economies of America and the free nations of Western Europe with a single currency in a common free-trade area strikes all businessmen I have talked to as nothing but a common-sense adjustment to the present-day demands of industrial and economic stability here and in Europe."

"Where is there any sound business in America trying to bolster up six or eight shattered, rival European monetary systems and perpetuating the costly, unnecessary nuisance of Europe's tragic dollar shortages?"

COMMON CURRENCY NEEDED

"Under a common currency system, all this would be wiped out and Europeans would be enriched, in effect, without the cost of a nickel to the U. S. A.—in fact, without anything but a great economic benefit to the U. S. A."

If you put this up to the most well-intentioned men in the senate, I'm a little afraid they would shudder at such naked idealism. As for the Jenners and Capeharts, they would react as usual, which is to say they would explode with rage and vituperation.

There are signs, like the first crocus in the spring, that changes looking toward a western federation are coming. France, Britain and the U. S. have managed to agree on what seems to be a rational settlement for Germany. Italy and France are entering a customs union that will remove many of the antiquated nationalistic barriers that wall off each separate country.

But the push, the lift, from this side of the Atlantic is lacking. This country is giving money for economic aid to Europe. Congress will shortly be asked to appropriate money for arms. Even if all this is done, it may not be enough. Guns and butter are not a substitute for the living, breathing word that can bring hope for the future.

lar construction; if the individuals are thought of, use the plural construction.

Mrs. D's invitation was properly worded in the plural, for it is both natural and logical to think of the committee in terms of the individual members. The invitation is more personal and gracious that way.

Note how awkward, impersonal, and stuffy the singular construction would be: "... Committee is having a tea. It would like you to be its guest." The person invited would not be able to think of the Committee — Jane, Mabel, Helen, Mary and Grace — as "it."

Of course there are times when the singular construction is both proper and desirable. But the singular should not be used if it has a jarring or awkward effect. It's more a matter of common sense than of grammar.

Office people are frequently stumped by collective nouns as company, corporation, agency, department. In most cases the singular construction is logical. The company has its main offices in Chicago. The corporation is declaring its annual dividend. The agency requests quick action. The department is being reorganized.

But there are times when the plural construction is more logical. And there are even times when it is quite permissible to mix singular and plural. For example: The company wants (singular) to be of service to you. We (plural) have instructed our (plural) sales department to send you its (singular) new catalogue.

It's Your Responsibility Now, Joe!

Good Evening By Clint Dunathan

HOME AT CHATHAM— Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Horwood arrived in Chatham a week or so ago to inspect their new home at the Chatham agricultural experiment station, where Mr. Horwood has assumed his duties as superintendent of the 49-year-old institution.

Mrs. Horwood returned to East Lansing, where the Horwoods' three sons (two in high school, one in college) require her attention. She and the boys will come back after school is out.

Meanwhile, Prof. Horwood—although he prefers that he be called Russ rather than professor—is having the superintendent's residence at Chatham repaired for occupancy; and is visiting the Upper Peninsula area renewing acquaintances with agricultural extension agents and other extension service people. Russ is quietly aggressive, if that description is not too contradictory, and he has a genuine liking for the Upper Peninsula and its people.

"I'm glad to be back," he said.

U. P. BACKYARD—In a sense the Horwoods are staging a homecoming in their return to the Upper Peninsula. For Russ was dairy specialist here from 1927 to 1938, and for the last five years of that stay was stationed at Chatham. Russ knows the Upper Peninsula very well. He left in 1938 to work in the dairy department at Michigan State College. That was a promotion that he could not refuse—but after 11 years he welcomed the return to this northern Michigan area. That also is a promotion, since he succeeds the late Jim Wells as Chatham superintendent.

His home will be at Chatham, but his backyard will be the 15 counties of the U. P., in which about one-half of his time will be spent working with MSC extension personnel.

DEVELOPMENTS — "There have been many changes, new trends, and new conditions in agriculture since I last worked in the Upper Peninsula," Horwood said. "Right now I'm visiting around, talking with agricultural agents and extension people, who are closer to the picture than I have been."

"For instance, the extension service now includes active home economics and 4-H club program. Those are new developments. I want the extension people to tell me what to do to be of greater service to them. Between us we can work matters out to make agricultural extension service most effective and helpful to the people of the Upper Peninsula," said Russ.

Not the least of the changes that have occurred in this locality of the Upper Peninsula is the accent on potato growing. Dairying, always an important "cash crop" in the U. P., is being pushed through booster programs in which many operators of dairy processing plants are cooperating.

More farms and farmers, a return to the soil of many war veterans who are being encouraged to make agriculture a lifetime career, and larger yields combined with higher quality are other factors to be considered in agricultural extension. Artificial breeding is a new post-war development here, apparently des-

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Bob Barron, Elroy Andrews, Evans Bergquist, Jim L'Heureaux, Thor Nilsen and Charles Thatcher have been chosen men for the annual E Men's minstrel of Escanaba Senior high school. R. Bowers and Edward E. Edick are in charge. The show is built around the Paul Bunyan theme.

Manistique—Robert Branch, student of Wheaton College in Wheaton, Ill., is spending the spring vacation here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Branch.

Gladstone—Mr. and Mrs. James T. Jones have returned from Chicago where they visited their daughter Beverly, a student of Augustana Hospital, school of nursing.

Twenty Years Ago

Nahma —James Krutina, Antone Gereau and Richard Gereau have left for Milwaukee where they will be employed.

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. Phil Shedore have returned from an extended visit in Los Angeles, and Mrs. T. J. Riley has returned from the East coast where she spent the winter.

Manistique—A four year scholarship to the College of St. Teresa in Winona, Minn., has been awarded to Miss Alice Cecilia Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Tucker. Miss Tucker is a member of the Manistique high school class of 1929 and holds second highest honors in her class.

HE'S A FARMER—Russ Horwood was born Nov. 3, 1901, on a farm in Livingston county, near Howell. His father, William Stanley Horwood, is still living. It was he who encouraged his son in his ambition to attend Michigan State College, from which he graduated in 1926. Later—in 1931—Russ received his Master's Degree from MSC.

Russ began work with the college extension service in 1927, the year after graduation. He was in the college dairy department during the war and at the close of the war went to Japan, ostensibly to teach G.I.s. He was there from Aug. 1946, to Sept. 1947—but all of his sojourn there was spent in the natural research section of army general headquarters under Gen. MacArthur. The natural research section included agriculture and was one of several established to assist in the rehabilitation of occupied Japan.

Russ made studies and worked out recommendations that were to be put into effect with the co-operation of the Japanese people. He was transferred back to the college dairy department before the cooperative program started, but a successor is now following the recommendations Horwood made as a result of his year-long study.

THE CHALLENGE—Because of his experiences in Japan, Russ was in demand for speaking engagements all over Michigan following his return. Enrollment at MSC has doubled since the close of the war, placing an additional burden upon the faculty. His transfer to the U. P. as Chatham superintendent and supervisor of agricultural extension service presents another challenge to Russ Horwood, the Lower Michigan farm boy who knows and loves the northern area where he served as dairy specialist for 11 years. He and his friends are confident of his success here, as he has been successful in other undertakings.

Hollywood By Erskine Johnson

Hollywood (NEA).—I give you today television's most popular star—Hopalong Cassidy.

And I have a mighty good suspicion that I should be saying that Bill Boyd, who plays Hoppy, is Hollywood's most popular star, too.

If you own a TV set, you know what I mean.

Seven million kids and their parents (the figure is growing every month) follow Hoppy's adventures every week in their homes. In the 30 weeks he has been riding the television tubes, they have seen him in as many pictures as they'd normally see him in more than five years at their favorite theaters.

Look what's happening: Boyd was mobbed every time he made a public appearance on a recent New York visit. Even taxi cab drivers asked for his autograph.

There are Hopalong Cassidy cocktail parties in high society.

In La Canada, Calif., a 5-year-old insists on a place being set at the dinner table every night for "Uncle Hoppy." Because she sees him in the living room of her home she's convinced he's a member of the family and eventually will show up for dinner.

Rivals Jolson

The story is almost as fantastic as Al Jolson's comeback.

Only Hoppy did it on television without the aid of Larry Parks' body. Hoppy's body, thank you, is still okay after 14 years of riding the celluloid range.

William Boyd started in Hollywood as an extra and became a matinee idol in such Cecil B. DeMille movies as "Why Change Your Wife?" and "The Volga Boatman." But he's been Hoppy since 1935.

"I lost my own identity," he told me. "Most actors would be bitter about that. I'm not. I'm grateful."

"Until 1935 I was a dual personality. I had a bad side and a good side. I fought the bad side but I couldn't win. Then I became Hoppy and the good side won. That's why I've made the character so believable. I'm not acting. I AM Hopalong Cassidy."

Was Foresighted

A year ago Boyd and Mulford got together and agreed on a percentage deal whereby Bill would have all film, television, radio and commercial rights to Hopalong. Now Bob Hope is a partner in the deal. He'll finance all future Hopalong films.

Bill Boyd had vision, too. From the very beginning of his career as Hopalong, he insisted that the series should be intelligent and above the usual western standards.

"Kids aren't stupid," he says. "They can understand things. I treat all kids like grownups and all grownups like kids."

That's the reason Hopalong now reaches adults, as is popular with them as with children.

But there are other reasons for the popularity of his pictures, too. Boyd was an actor for 15 years before he became Hopalong. He says: "I'm an actor playing a character and not a cowboy playing an actor. I know what not to do."

He doesn't talk on the screen in the western vernacular. "That's stupid," he says. And he plays Hopalong with a passionate seriousness. He says: "I hope I'm never shot in a picture, because the way I play 'em I'd probably die."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—One inside reason why dynamic Louis Johnson was anxious to have dynamic Steve Early as his undersecretary of national defense has now leaked out.

Real fact is that Early, FDR's former press relations expert, was not Johnson's first choice. He first tried to persuade Truman to appoint John M. Franklin, head of the United States Steamship Lines; but the president turned thumbs down cold, because Franklin was a Dewey supporter.

Johnson also wanted Truman to take John J. McCloy, president of the World Bank, and former assistant secretary of war. However, McCloy also is close to Dewey and the president wanted a Democrat whom he personally trusted.

Actually it was the president himself who suggested Steve Early. Truman happens to be one of the few men in Washington who knows just how much respect Johnson has for Early's judgment. In fact, if it hadn't been for Early, Johnson might never have been secretary of defense to-day.

In 1940, FDR not only trampled on Johnson's ambition to be vice president, in favor of Henry Wallace, but he bypassed Johnson and named Henry L. Stimson as secretary of war. Johnson, then assistant secretary of war, was bitterly disappointed and started west, boiling with anger. The White House heard about it, also heard that Johnson was en route to Colorado Springs to meet Wendell Willkie, then preparing his race as G. O. P. nominee for president.

Steve Early immediately had Johnson's plane grounded half-way across the country and got the indignant assistant secretary of war on the telephone. For an hour and ten minutes he pleaded with Johnson on the phone. Early had been one of Louie's best friends, had long tried to make him secretary of war instead of Harry Woodring. There is no question but that Johnson had been led to believe he was definitely to become secretary of war and that he had been given the political double-cross. Furthermore he had done a great job of rearming the United States despite isolationist opposition. In the end, however, Early persuaded him to proceed—not to Colorado Springs but to Los Angeles, still a loyal Democrat.

Now the man who guided the then assistant secretary of war will be at his right hand as undersecretary of national defense.

AIR VS. NAVY

A table-beating, word-slinging row that rattled the window panes of the house appropriations committee took place last week over squeezing money out of the army and navy. Part of the row was over the old question of more naval vessels or more airplanes.

The uproar started when Chairman Clarence Cannon of Missouri upbraided his subcommittee for giving the armed services half a billion dollars more than President Truman asked for.

"This is the worst bill that has come from a subcommittee this session," thundered Chairman Cannon. "It's terrible and ought to be recommitted."

"At least $750,000,000 of this spending should be cut out of the bill. It's preposterous to give the navy all that money so that admirals who still think they're fighting the Spanish-American war can build outdated warships at a time when air power is all-important."

This brought a hot return from chunky subcommittee member Albert Engel, Republican of Michigan. "I resent the accusation," he stormed, beating the table. "I've always been a strong air-power man and this bill does not discriminate against the air force."

"You say the bill should be cut," continued the Michigan Republican. "Well, I won't take the responsibility for cutting the defense program at a time like this. Furthermore, I'm standing by my subcommittee. If I didn't think it was doing a good job I would resign."

NEED FOR SUBMARINES

Young Bob Sikes of Florida, Democrat, chimed in:

"I have supported cuts, sometimes at the expense of safety, in an effort to achieve economy in this measure. I even proposed cuts that you yourself vetoed, Mr. Chairman. But while I'm for an adequate air force, you cannot possibly transport all the men and tonnage we need in time of war by air alone. There isn't enough gasoline in the country, even if we had the planes. And the air force can't hold places that have been taken. That takes ground troops, fighting in the mud."

"Also, the air force cannot carry on effective antisubmarine warfare. That takes ships."

Cannon re-entered the argument with a charge that the subcommittee hadn't properly coordinated the spending of the three services to prevent overlapping expenses.

"We supposedly unified the three services for greater efficiency and economy," he snapped sarcastically. "We were going to save the taxpayers' money. This bill doesn't look like we meant what we said. To read it, you'd never know there was a unification program."

"Just a minute—just a minute," shouted Democrat Harry Sheppard of California. "You're in a mighty poor position to be making these accusations. You sat with the subcommittee during the markup of the bill and voted on it. Why did you wait until now, when we are ready to report the bill, to start beefing. It seems mighty strange to me."

Cannon finally agreed to withhold his threatened motion to recommit the bill and called for a vote to report it.

"There's nothing else I can do at this stage," he explained, "but I still don't like the bill."

Note — Privately many congressmen agree with Representative Cannon that a lot of water can be cut from the armed forces budget.

Merchant Prince Of London Dead; Only $6,176 Left

The size of his estate was disclosed when his will was filed for probate. Selfridge died in May, 1947.

Selfridge made and lost two fortunes. At the height of his career, he was a confidant of European royalty and entertained lavishly on his English estates.

He founded the London store that still bears his name after working in Chicago with Marshall Field, who taught him department store operation. Selfridge retired in 1939 with a continuing salary of $2,000 ($8,000) a year.

He was born in Ripon, Wisc. and spent his boyhood in Jackson, Mich.

Snow Slows Down Blind Musician

Denver (P)—Chuck Collins doesn't have much use for snow. But not for the same reason you or I might dislike the chilly stuff. Collins, a radio singer and pianist, is blind. Most of the time he makes his way around town nicely without the help of seeing-eye dog or the white cane of the unseeing.

His ears are his guides. Simply by snapping his fingers, listening to the changing echoes of sound in the street or bending an ear to the clicking of his leather heels, Collins says he can sense the presence of obstacles nearby.

But snow deadens sounds or makes them trickier to analyze. Collins, completely sightless for 33 of his 38 years, says he knows if an automobile is parked at the curb; when he is approaching a telephone pole or a wall or another pedestrian.

Collins helped earn his way to a political science degree at Idaho University by tuning pianos. For 11 years he sang in Seattle and Hollywood, with dance bands and then over the air.

Collins now has a five-a-week show—"Chuck Collins Calling"—of songs and patter over station KOA and KMYR.

ESCANABA MAN KILLS HIMSELF

Turns On Gas, Fires Bullet In Head

Nicholas Boures, age 51, of 612 N. 19th street, shot and killed himself with a .32 revolver this morning, but before firing a bullet through his head, he opened the gas main in the basement of his house, Mrs. Edith Milkiewicz, 306 Stephenson avenue, was overcome by gas in an effort to reach Boures. She was revived by city firemen with the use of a resuscitator and taken to St. Francis hospital.

Patrolman Ray Van Enkevort also was partly overcome by gas in an effort to reach Boures. Boures apparently had been dead for several hours when the odor of escaping gas was detected by a neighbor, Mrs. Dewey Duncan, who called the police department and also summoned Mrs. Milkiewicz, a friend of Mr. Boures.

After Officer Van Enkevort was overcome by gas, Mrs. Milkiewicz and Mrs. Duncan entered the basement but were unable to reach Boures. Mrs. Milkiewicz collapsed while climbing the stairs and fell back into the basement.

Officer Harold Finn and Fireman Howard Kell rescued Mrs. Milkiewicz, who was unconscious, and Kell used a paper plug to reduce the gas leak. Later, a city gas man closed the leak with an iron fitting. When Mrs. Milkiewicz was revived with the resuscitator, she was taken to St. Francis hospital.

Boures was shot through the head and apparently died instantly. The shooting occurred in the basement of the house. Boures was reported to be in ill health.

The body was taken to the Alto funeral home.

better time. The silvery fish were fairly galloping up the streams last night when fishermen dipped about 20,000 pounds. Hundreds of men, women and children were out to dip smelt and witness the activities on the banks of the Escanaba, Ford, Tacoosh, Days, Sturgeon, Whitefish, and other streams in the county.

The first contingent of outdoors writers arrived by Nationwide Airlines plane from Detroit at noon today. They were: Don Gillies, Detroit Times; Bert Stoll, Booth newspapers; George Bick, Detroit News; Len Barnes, Motor News; and John Weesner, president of Nationwide Airlines. Dick Joiner, assistant to Bob Becker, outdoors editor of the Chicago Tribune, arrived by automobile this afternoon. Gordon MacQuarrie, outdoors editor of the Milwaukee Journal, and Lew Morrison of the Milwaukee Sentinel were expected to arrive tonight or tomorrow.

The visiting writers were invited here by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce and will be guests of the House of Ludington during their stay here. They were interviewed by Station WDBC this afternoon, and this program will be broadcast from the wire recorder at 6:30 tomorrow evening.

A news item in the Chicago Tribune about the Escanaba smelt run brought telephone and teletype inquiries today. George Franck of the Imperial Brass Mfg. Company of Chicago, who said he was a regular smelt fisherman before the war, said he would bring a party here this weekend. Howard Trudeau of the Vulcan Stamping & Manufacturing company is coming tomorrow with a group of friends from Chicago.

TRIAL ENDS IN PLEA OF GUILTY

Kinnart Changes Plea; Jury Is Dismissed

The trial of Wayne Kinnart, Perkins, who had pleaded not guilty to breaking and entering, collapsed today and the court dismissed the jury when Kinnart changed his plea to guilty after three of the prosecution's witnesses had been heard.

Judge Glenn W. Jackson will sentence Kinnart and others later in the term. Kinnart was remanded to jail.

It was charged that Kinnart had broke and entered the Dutch Mill tavern north of Rapid River last winter. Nine other men are similarly charged. The Dutch Mill is owned by Harry Buckman of Rapid River and Hilding Norstrom of Gladstone.

Three witnesses were called by Prosecutor J. Clyde McGonagle. Two of them—Calvin Willis of Gladstone and Oliver Couillard of the Chemical Plant location—entered pleas of guilty to breaking and entering the Dutch Mill when arraigned last Monday. The other witness was Buckman, one of the Dutch Mill owners.

Kinnart's change of plea brought an end to the trial and the dismissal of the jury, composed of Eleanor R. Ryan, Cleve J. Moore, William Weyker Jr., Margaret Carlson, Mildred Dahl, Earl C. Smith, Warren Lofquist, Mrs. Ethel Murphy, Eldridge Baker, Lloyd Russell, Blanche S. Kennedy and Florence G. Skogquist.

Judge Jackson today received a plea of guilty from Curtis Johnson, 18, of Old State Road, to charges of robbery armed and robbery unarmed. Johnson had previously pleaded not guilty. Laurence Laine, 24, Marquette, in Pioneer Trail Park early the morning of April 3.

J. Roy Johnson of 805 South 14th street, Escanaba, charged with negligent homicide in the traffic death Dec. 9 of a 14-year-old Pine Ridge boy, had his trial continued following a plea of not guilty. The continuance was granted to give precedence to the hearing of a suit for damages as a result of the accident, in which Johnson is named defendant.

Production Gets Push In Germany

But he indicated the Germans will be less pleased with the new prohibited list.

A state department announcement said the amount of equipment formerly scheduled for removal but now to be left there varies among the 159 plants "from a single piece of equipment in a plant to the entire equipment of an operating factory."

"The equipment which will be retained in Germany is located in 32 plants in the steel industry, 88 metal working plants, 32 chemical plants and seven plants in the non-ferrous metal industries," the announcement said.

Self-Sufficiency Speeded
Five of the steel industry plants, it was explained, produce crude steel and these will raise western Germany's steelmaking capacity by 165,000 tons a year. That will give western Germany a total capacity of about 13,465,000 tons annually.

The production ceiling of 11,000,000 tons a year remains. Simultaneously with the state department announcement, the British and French foreign offices were due to release their own statements on the same agreement.

The announcements are the latest in a series of moves aimed at this three-fold objective:
1. To give Germany self-government.
2. To advance the conquered

Expansion Of U. P. Air Service Goal Set For Iron Mountain Meeting

A check on the status of airports in cities for which service by Wisconsin Central Airlines is proposed will be made and other matters pertaining to the expansion of commercial airline service in the Upper Peninsula will be studied at a meeting of the U. P. air transportation committee in Chippewa club at Iron Mountain tomorrow noon.

Members of the committee and other interested persons representing the cities on the proposed air route will confer with Francis M. Higgins, president of Wisconsin Central, who plans to inaugurate air passenger, mail and express service in the U. P., on June 1.

Among those planning to attend from Escanaba are Gust Asp, Denis McGinn, Fred Sensiba, F. W. Schmitt, James G. Ward, Jr., and Hugh Grow. It is expected that several others will comprise the Escanaba delegation.

Escanaba is on the proposed W-C route but until work on the extended north-south runway is completed, its airport does not conform to Civil Aeronautics Authority regulations. It is expected this work will be completed in the near future.

U. P. cities with airports now served by Nationwide Airlines must conform only to state department of aeronautics requirements because Nationwide is an intra-state carrier. W-C, however, is an inter-state carrier operating in several states. Thus, airports on its route must comply with CAA requirements.

Only three cities have airports which satisfy CAA requirements. They are Menominee, Iron Mountain and Houghton. Escanaba, it was pointed out, will soon be in this category and thus eligible for W-C service. Airport improvements also are underway in Marquette and Ironwood.

The meeting in Iron Mountain tomorrow was called by Robert G. Murphy, chairman of the U. P. air transportation committee, Menominee. He also is representing the Menominee Chamber of Commerce. Ray P. Laufenberg, executive secretary of the Menominee Chamber, is secretary of the U. P. air committee.

Ishpeming Garment Workers Still Idle

Ishpeming, Mich., April 13 (AP)—More than 500 workers remained idle today as a strike at the H. W. Gossard Garment Co. plant went into its second day.

Some 200 women strikers set up picket lines around the plant yesterday. The strikers are affiliated with the International Ladies' Garment Workers (Ind.)

A strike was approved by the workers April 4 when they turned down a company offer of a two-cent pay boost. The union is seeking a 19-cent hourly wage hike and a union shop.

The Salvation Army reports a total of 13,768 conversions were brought about in its work in the United States during 1948.

Economist Is Speaker At Kiwanis Club

Price declines are inevitable and in order, but it is to be hoped that fickle consumer psychology will not delay buying too long and thereby create depression and unemployment, Dr. J. Marvin Peterson, research director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, told Kiwanians at their Ludington hotel meeting Tuesday noon.

The present job is to flatten out the national economy so that consumer demand keeps pace with production, Dr. Peterson said.

"This job will call for a high degree of business statesmanship on all levels," the speaker continued. "We'll also have to do a better selling job."

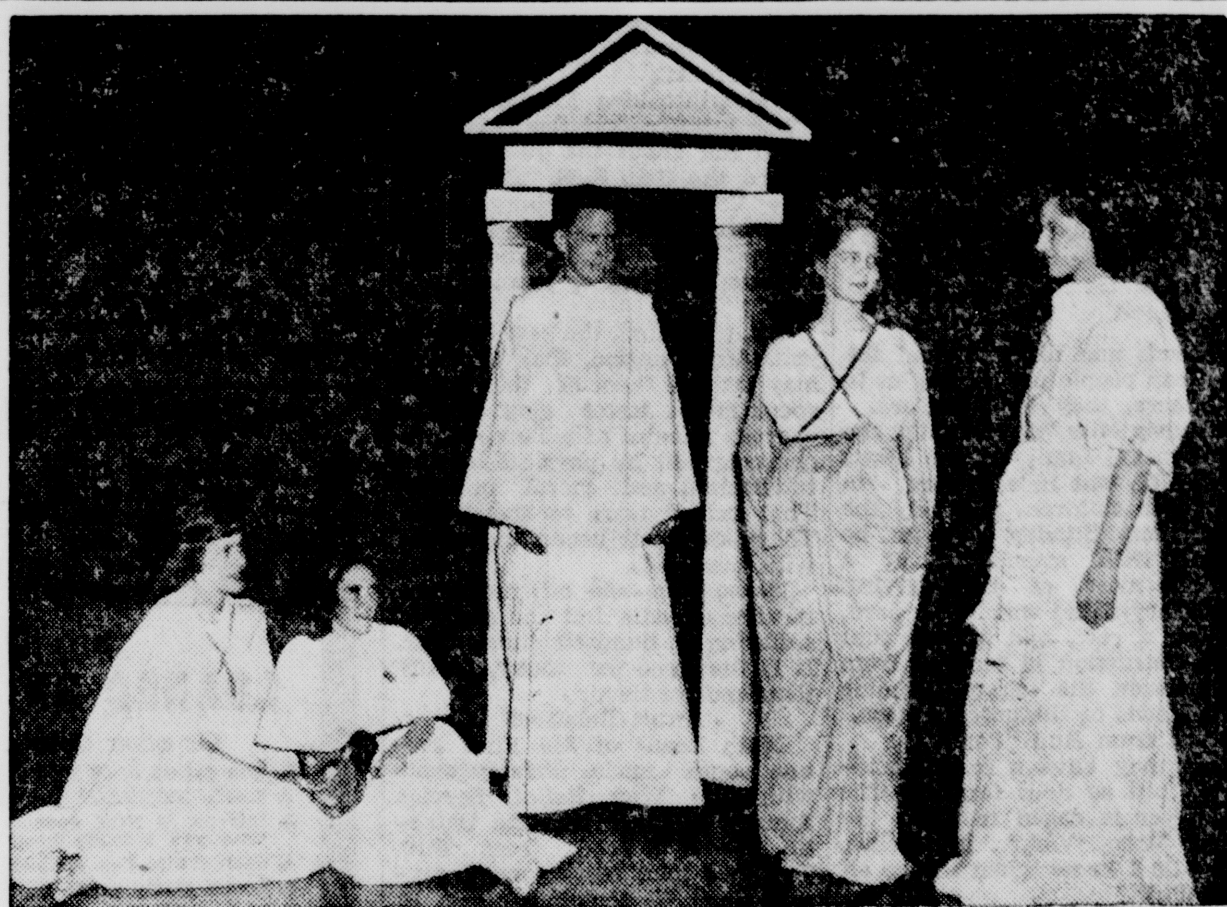

The banking system of the country is strong, and there is no reason for the people to fear for the safety of their bank deposits, Dr. Peterson continued.

Opening his talk, Dr. Peterson pointed out that there was a large accrued deficiency of capital goods, or plant and machinery, and also a serious lack of consumer durable goods at the close of the war. "Our postwar reconversion, however, has been amazingly swift, and in three and a half years the nation's production has 'caught up' with consumption."

"The postwar boom has been a restocking boom, upon which has been superimposed a boom based on rearmament and European relief, which was quite inflationary," Dr. Peterson continued. "This postwar inflation may have jeopardized what chances we had for sustaining a high level of prosperity."

Prices rose after the war because of the huge demand for scarce goods, the economist explained. Coupled with this factor has been the increase in money supply. During World War II, Dr. Peterson said, about 20 billion dollars was added to the supply of coins and currency, or an increase from a pre-war total of eight billion to a post-war figure of 28 billion. Bank deposits have increased along with the volume of government securities held by the public.

During the fiscal year from July 1, 1944 to June 30, 1945, the government spent 99 billion dollars, Dr. Peterson pointed out. It raised 44 billion by taxes, and borrowed the rest. The public bought 33 billion of government securities and the banks, 22 billion.

Dr. Peterson said he felt that the inflationary spurt of last summer was unfortunate and could have been curbed if the proper courage had been demonstrated. To curb inflationary tendencies, the government could have built up a sizeable U. S. treasury surplus of from 12 to 15 billion dollars annually by reducing federal expenditures and retirement of public debt, specifically those securities held by Federal Reserve banks. This would be a reversal of the process by which an increase money supply was created, Dr. Peterson explained.

Personal income and savings are still high, but consumer spending has declined in the past few months, Dr. Peterson said. Further price declines are to be expected, but the speaker expressed the hope that the consumers will not get into the frame of mind where they will refrain from buying indefinitely.

JOURNEY'S END — Shown here shortly after their arrival from Salzburg, Austria, are Mr. and Mrs. John Lischzynskyj, Marko and Oksana Lischzynskyj, and Math Lewis, their sponsor. Those buttons you see on their coats identify them as refugees from DP camps in Europe. They came here aboard the Gen. S. S. Black, after spending four and a half years fleeing from Russian Bolsheviks and German Nazis. They left their home in Gorlice, Poland, in 1944. Here they will work the Pine Ridge farm of Math Lewis. They left Salzburg, where Mr. Lischzynskyj, a Polish lawyer, worked in a tannery, on March 19, and arrived here last Thursday night.

Displaced Polish Lawyer And Family Starts Anew On Farm At Pine Ridge

The John Lischzynskyj family, who arrived here last Thursday from Salzburg, Austria, under sponsorship of Math Lewis of this city, has moved to the Lewis farm at Pine Ridge and will work for Math Lewis there.

When they arrived here they were greeted at the train by the Lewises and taken to their home, until last minute living details at the farm had been arranged.

The journey here has been a tough one for the Lischzynskyj family. It includes four and a half years spent in Europe running away from German Nazis and Russian "Bolsheviks," fear, and a 10-day passage aboard the Gen. S. S. Black, during which they were seasick.

Now they are happily settled on the Lewis farm and busy learning the business of farming. Marko and Oksana, their son and daughter, don't have to be afraid of being separated from their parents any longer, and soon they will start school.

Break Up Homes

Behind all this happiness is a long period of suffering and deprivation, with constant maneuvers and flights to escape the German Nazis and the Russian "Bolsheviks." It has meant long periods in displaced persons camps in Europe, and fear of being detained and separated.

"The Russian Bolsheviks always try to break up homes. It is one of their first steps in 'communizing' a country or people," Mrs. Lischzynskyj, a former school teacher, told Miss Victoria Mroczkowski, executive secretary of the American Red Cross, who was translating the Polish for a Daily Press reporter.

"If the American Communists could see the unhappiness and horror Russian 'communism' brings to people, they would be done with it forever," Mrs. Lischzynskyj declared.

Will Work Hard

Mr. and Mrs. Lischzynskyj have not practiced their professions since they fled from their home near Krakow in 1944. Here they will farm for Math Lewis. Neither has had any experience.

"We will work hard to repay nies the practice of law and further says that such preparation of legal papers was in line with her duties as judge of probate and her willingness to be of help and give the utmost service to the general public.

Mr. Lewis and his wife, and the American people for helping us to come here, they both declare.

Recently Miss 'Vicki' visited the Lischzynskyj family at the Lewis farm. Mrs. was in a hurry, to bathe her children, and tidy the house for Sunday... to be marked with attendance at a Catholic mass of thanksgiving. Mr. Lischzynskyj was in the barn, milking a cow, and getting first hand instruction in farming from his sponsor, the happy, beaming Math Lewis of the grocery store.

Gum And "Pop"

Law may have a lot of intricacies, but so does farming. The ex-lawyer is eager to learn. He asked Miss 'Vicki' in Polish, "How do I know when I have all the milk?"

Marko and Oksana are having a lot of fun in America. They have learned how to chew gum, and have come to know which type of "pop" they like best. And the opening of the brooks and streams, the first sprouts of grass and the happy music of life in the U. S. brings a new light to their bright, blue eyes.

Polish farmers in and around Bark River and Perronville have been paying visits to the newcomers at Pine Ridge. Many ask to be of help, and almost all have many many questions about Poland, the land of their birth, or their parents'.

Heartbreaking Memories

The Lischzynskyj family is happy to tell about the 10-day trip aboard the Gen. S. S. Black to New York from Salzburg, Austria, where Mr. Lischzynskyj was burying his legal knowledge working in a leather tanning factory.

But, after that, the rest is up to you. Any question, look or word may remind them of the years spent in the terror ring in the charred remains of a Europe once characterized by physical beauty, intellectual and moral nobility. That brings tears to their eyes. They bow their heads and choke with memories.

Newspapers and other communications media tell the story of suffering a hundred times over. It is the same for many, many thousands of them.

Await Relatives

Math Lewis of 311 First avenue south made arrangements with the War Relief Service Agency of the Marquette Catholic diocese to bring them here. The two men corresponded several times to complete plans. In letters, Mr. Lewis assured them that he would help bring the family to the United States. He also sent pictures of American schools to the Lischzynskyj family.

Mrs. Lischzynskyj has a sister and her mother still in Poland, and later Mr. Lewis will help bring them here. They will help with gardening, and Mr. Lewis says, other friends of his will help them find work.

OLD LANDMARK TO BE RAZED

Iron Mt. Hulst School Was Built In 1892

Iron Mountain, Mich.—Iron Mountain's most familiar and time-honored landmark is on the way out. They're tearing down the Hulst grade school, and many will regret its passing, for much of this city's earliest educational history centered about this fine old structure.

Unused since 1940, the $65,000 red and gray granite structure—the interior of which has been considerably damaged by vandals—was built in 1892 and named after Dr. Nelson P. Hulst, nationally-known mining official of this area. It is now being dismantled by Quinto Valenti and Abe Ras-kin, owners, and in three months will be leveled to the ground.

oak interior will be sold by the two men, who purchased the building from the school board in the spring of 1946.

"Makes me a little sad to think the old Hulst school is being torn down," says G. P. Fugere, alumnus of the Hulst and Iron Mountain school board member for 25 years. "The old building up there on the hill has a special place in the hearts of many of us."

"Through the years the school has taken on a certain 'character'. Iron Mountain won't seem the same without it. It will be like losing a very old and very dear friend."

She filed her answer late Friday with the county clerk at Menominee. The bar association seeks to restrain her from the practice of law and performing certain legal services for persons having probate cases in her court.

Judge Laughton claimed that as judge of probate court she "has a pledge to keep." She said the pledge was made in 1936 and that she "would, without cost of attorney fees, serve especially the poor widow and orphan, the mentally ill, the disabled war veteran, the afflicted and crippled child."

"In spite of pressure from certain members of the Menominee Bar association," she said, "this defendant intends to continue to carry out that pledge to the best of her ability, unless prevented from doing so by a court restraining order."

Judge Laughton admitted she had personally prepared or supervised the preparation "of thousands of legal documents" of various kinds. But the defendant de-

There'll Always Be a "Gawker"

"Harry the Hermit," as he's called, came into town last week and, as usual, caused quite a stir. He looks like a cross between Santa Claus and Daniel Boone.

We had a friendly glass of beer together and I asked him, "Don't you ever get annoyed at the way some people laugh and stare as you go by?" "Shucks no," Harry says. "Only while they're laughin' at me, I'm feelin' a mite sorry for them. Imagine—folks so ungrateful they can't see I'm really just the same as they are underneath."

GOOD NEWS FOR SICK PEOPLE

STOMACH AILMENTS, WEAK KIDNEYS, RHEUMATIC PAINS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS

and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids, Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Vitality, Energy, Poor Appetite, Underweight, Dizzy Spells.

Drugless Health!

REGARDLESS of how long you have been a sufferer, and how many medicines you have tried before, you can now hope for relief if you try GEO-MINERAL, the wonderful mineral aid. Feel and enjoy the results one week after you start taking it. GEO-MINERAL comes from the earth — Nature's laboratory. Contains NO alcohol, NO preservatives, NO oil. NO harmful drugs. NO dope — is NOT habit forming. Contains ONLY Nature's minerals, the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments — highly recommended by the medical profession.

FOR THOUSANDS of years ever since Hippocrates was the father of medicine, minerals and other natural medicines were a reliable remedy for most of our common ailments. GEO-MINERAL will enrich your blood, help to make you strong, full of pep, life and energy. If you suffer from nutritional anemia, nervousness, lack of vitality and energy see what GEO-MINERAL will do for you.

Amazing Results

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral deficiency. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite, when your eyes lack that bright spark, and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems now worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid condition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ill. People, on the advice of their doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgia. He was helped or never had gone there twice a year.

Wonder Minerals

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wonderful springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thonon in ancient Greece where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed in it for ever young. GEO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best springs. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities — poisonous waste — coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

100% Guaranteed!

WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Go to your drug store now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money.

REGARDLESS of how long you have been suffering, and how many medicines you have tried before, GEO-MINERAL may be the remedy you need!

TRY it today! It may do wonders for you—and be the best investment for your health. Make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better. GEO-MINERAL: 1 bottle $1.10, 6 for $6.00

Ruwitch Is Named Edick's Assistant

George Ruwitch, member of the Escanaba high school faculty since 1935, has been named assistant to Edward E. Edick, senior high school principal, and will also be in charge of extra curricular activities and director of guidance. He will continue to teach physics at the senior high.

The appointment made by Supt. John A. Lemmer was confirmed by the Escanaba board of education in meeting last night.

Other business before the board included acceptance of a scholarship to a workshop for economic education to be held August 1-19 at Michigan State College. The Escanaba school district was one of 39 in Michigan to receive the scholarship, which entitles one teacher or administrative official, to attend the workshop at MSC. The person to receive the scholarship here has not yet been named.

The board approved the appointment of Helen Elaine Stenson, grade school supervising teacher, to act as consultant for an educational workshop to be held Aug. 14-20 at Indian Lake, near Iron River, with expenses paid.

A report of the work in the physical medicine department for the month of March was received from Clarence Moore, physical therapist.

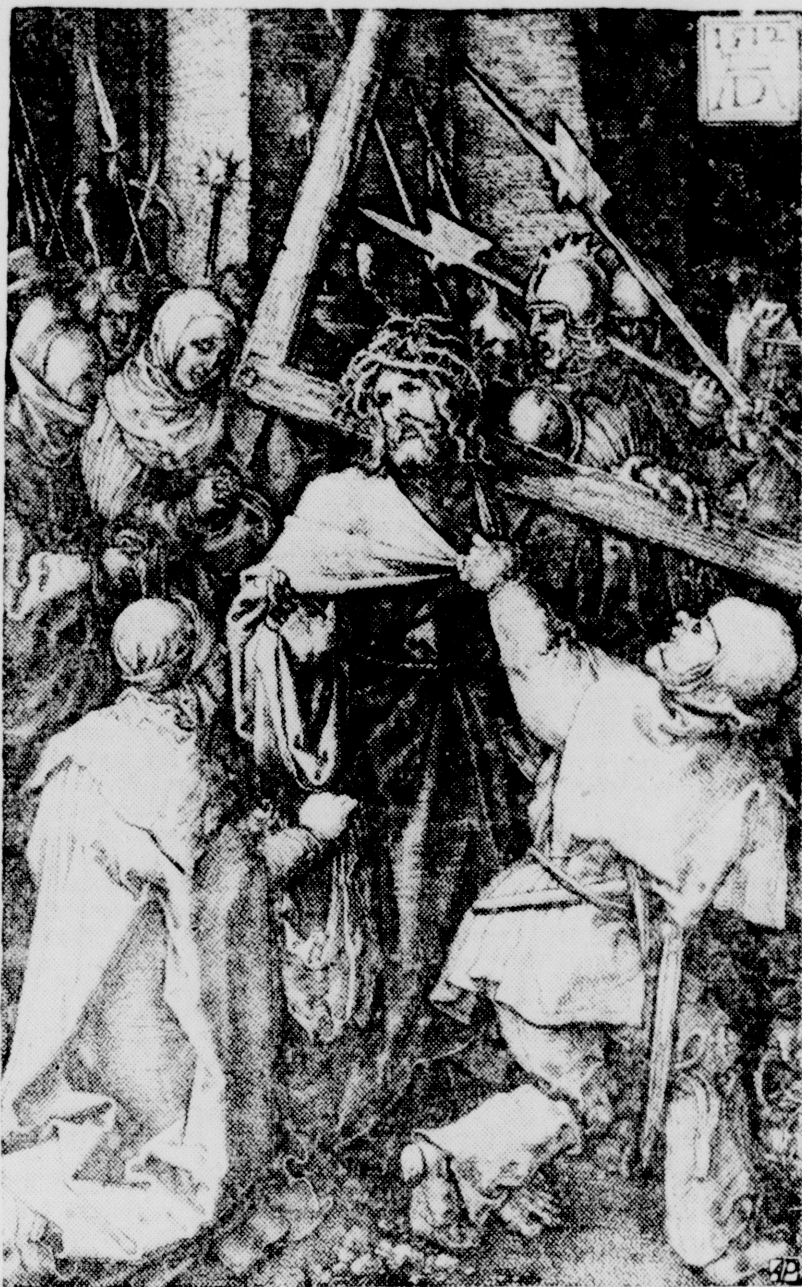

The board was also informed that Escanaba high school has been approved to charge tuition for non-resident students.

Supt. Lemmer received approval of a proposal to complete playgrounds and construct tennis courts at the senior high school. Funds for this work would come from the sale of some of the 2300 shares of Wisconsin Power & Light company stock given to the Escanaba school board by the late Mrs. Catherine Bonifas.

So you shiver at the sight of snow and a blast of cold. Let's not hope it will turn you into a winter gnom, who never sticks her nose outdoors unless she must. You can have lots of fun in the winter time and you can join other teen agers in one big happy venture. Roller skating is your answer, and if you've never tried it, you are in for a tremendous surprise. It really is easy!

Today instead of taking his girl to a rink party, Johnny might ask her to a rink party. This is especially good fun on a rainy night when the world looks pretty dreary. On the rink everything is shining and glittering.

You can learn how to skate in two shakes of a skate. There are 75,000 skating clubs around the country now and many ring operators give lessons to novices. It is estimated that some 17,000,000 persons roller skate annually, 55 per cent of them are teen-agers.

Who knows—you might become a champion. Rinks hold competitions to select skaters for state meets. State contests help select winners for regional championships.

World's champion roller skater is 17-year-old Patricia Carroll of Rego Park, N. Y., national champion is Nancy Lee Parker, 14, of Mt. Clemens, Mich.

Nancy, in particular, works mighty hard. She practices two and a half hours after school and eight hours over the weekend. Just before competition she gets into about six hours practice a day.

You don't have to be that terrific to have fun, however. As long as you can keep up with your own crowd you'll be all set.

Lots of groups now have roller skating parties as a switch from beating feet at the record player.

So you don't think life-sized girls get anywhere—and it's just the caddy ones that win beauty contests. Well, you're wrong.

You should have seen queenly Bunny Yaeger, 19, who hits the marker at 6 feet (with shoes). Bunny was chosen Cardiac Sports Queen in a beauty contest run by visiting sports stars for the benefit of the National Children's Cardiac Home.

Why was Bunny picked in preference to the petite contestants? The pretty brown-eyed girl modestly says:

"I think it was because Joe DiMaggio and Tommy Thompson, two of the judges, are so tall. I guess they just thought they'd give a tall girl a break."

Bunny belongs to the Miami Tip Toppers, an organization of about 50 girls all close to 6 feet tall. She is glad that she was able to win a contest and make them proud of her.

Her prize was a trip to New York, and she certainly made the most of it. She went to night clubs, ate steak (makes you grow, she says) was delicious at meeting so many celebrities, was photographed with Sonja Henie and Guy Lombardo and altogether was slightly mixed up doing "grown-up things."

In her spare time Bunny models. The rest of the time she is a secretary. No, she doesn't think her glamor trip to N. Y. will spoil her!

Births

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Smith, Gladstone Route One, are the parents of a son, weighing eight pounds and thirteen ounces, born April 12 at St. Francis hospital. There are two other children in the Smith family.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Brendan Williams, 324 South 16th street, at St. Francis hospital on April 11. The baby, whose weight was seven pounds and nine ounces, is the third child in the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Grigsby of Chicago are the parents of a son, Donald Clifford, born April 5. The baby, the first in the family, weighed six pounds and one ounce. Mrs. Grigsby is the former Eileen Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Young, Gladstone, Route One.

Social - Club

B. of R. T. Auxiliary

A regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the B. of R. T. will be held at 2:30 p. m., Thursday in the Eagles hall. All officers and members are requested to attend.

Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary met last evening in the club rooms for a business session and a social. Signe Nerbonne had high score in bridge, Capitola Bloom was high in five hundred and Anne Schneller had the high pinocle score. Odette Anutta was chairman of the evening, assisted by Alice DeRusha, Margaret Fisher and Kathleen Pudvin.

Meeting Postponed

The Order of Runeberg meeting scheduled for Thursday night has been postponed until April 28.

You can usually count on a pound of fresh shrimp to make a main dish to serve three when it is coupled with a creole or curry sauce; if the shrimp is to be used for a first-course cocktail a pound will serve four easily.

Spring salads are delicious served with sour cream instead of the usual dressing. Try lettuce, green onions and thin cucumber slices this way. Season the salad with salt and lots of fresh ground pepper.

Sinatra And Crosby Sued For Million In Hotel Promotion

Los Angeles, California (AP)—Crooners Frank Sinatra and Bing Crosby are co-defendants in a $1,000,000 suit filed here as an aftermath of a Nevada hotel promotion.

The superior court action Monday was brought by five stockholders of the Nevada Desert Inn, Inc., alleged owners of a large tract of land and buildings at Las Vegas.

The action charges that without consent of the corporation directors, its president, Stanley Burke, transferred title to the property to a "dummy," Lillian Nelson.

The suit contends that Burke formed a new company with Sinatra called "The New Horizon." The new company is constructing a mammoth resort hotel including a racetrack, the suit alleges.

Ruling Which Might Empty Prisons Is Rejected By Court

Lansing, (AP)—The state supreme court rejected a circuit judge ruling which could have almost emptied Michigan prisons.

That was circuit judge Guy A. Miller's decision that the state must proceed against persons charged with a crime only after a grand jury indictment.

Under Michigan law, defendants usually are charged upon "complaint and information" warrants issued by a prosecuting attorney.

Judge Miller, a Detroit jurist, freed Peter Simon under his ruling. Simon had been convicted of murder in 1932 and was released by the judge in 1947 in a decision which indirectly attacked the conviction of almost every one in a Michigan prison.

The supreme court unanimously overruled Judge Miller's theory that the fifth and 14th amendments to the Federal Constitution required the grand jury indictments in all cases. This is done in Federal cases and in some states.

The fifth amendment says "no person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury x x x." The 14th amendment forbids the states to violate the privileges or immunities of citizens or to deprive them of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

Associate justice John R. Dehmers, writing the court's decision, said "we are not persuaded that we are as yet constrained by the relevant holdings of a majority of the United States supreme court to hold that the fifth amendment applies to the states."

He quoted a 1948 United States supreme court decision holding that the 14th amendment does not require the states to make their criminal proceedings conform to the federal pattern.

However, the state supreme court said that Simon was convicted illegally in 1932 and ordered a new trial for him. He was released from prison in January, 1948.

The conviction was void, the court said, because the jury's verdict was taken by the court clerk in the absence of the trial judge and did not make clear the degree of crime.

Fate Of Filmland Hasbeens Traced

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, (P)—Where are they now?

What happened to the Glenn Ford and the Ava Gardner of yesterday, the men and women whom fame has touched and then has left behind?

Recently AP foreign affairs analyst Dewitt McKenzie presented me with a list of his oldtime movie favorites and asked what has happened to them. Herewith are my findings about them, as well as some others who slipped from stardom:

Gloria Swanson and Eric Von Stroheim, once great feuders, are back in Hollywood to do a picture together. She has been dabbling in television and he has acted in France. Sessue Hayakawa, another recent resident of France, and Ramon Novarro, lately a real estate man, have also made recent film comebacks.

Pola Negri and Mae Murray were recently in town, trying to peddle their memoirs to the studios. Beverly Bayne has been doing parts on the New York stage. Her former husband and co-star, Francis X. Bushman, acts in radio soap operas in Hollywood.

Billie Dove is married to socialite Robert Kenaston. She lives here, and friends say she is as beautiful as ever. After a session as a producer here, Bebe Daniels has returned to England, where husband Ben Lyon is an executive for 20th-Fox.

Charles Farrell operates the Palm Springs Racquet club, favorite resort for the movie crowd. His former co-star, Janet Gaynor, is retired and married to designer Gilbert Adrian.

William Haines, Mary Miles Minter, Jetta Goudal and Gloria Stuart have all gone in for interior decorating businesses in this area. Reginald Denny has made his hobby pay off; he runs a model airplane business.

Clara Kimball Young is retired and lives alone in a Hollywood bungalow. Maurice Costello and his daughter Helene live at the motion picture country home and he does occasional bit roles. Dolores Costello, once wed to John Barrymore, is now married to a Los Angeles doctor.

Chester Conklin, Mae Marsh, Matt and Tom Moore, Anna Q. Nilsson, Jack Mulhall, William Farnum, Alice White and Gertrude Michael do bit parts in pictures.

Among the former film queens who have married and retired are: Theda Bara to director Charles Brabin; Corinne Griffith to the Washington Redskins' George Marshall; Marian Nixon to director Bill Seiter; Laura Laplante to Irving Asher, MGM official in London; Ann Harding to conductor Werner Janssen; Louise Fazenda to producer Hal Wallis.

Clara Bow and Rex Bell live on a Nevada ranch. Colleen Moore is wealthy and retired in Chicago. Rod LaRoque is a real estate man here and Vilma Banky keeps house for him. Nils Asther is a Civil Service delivery clerk, earning $1 an hour.

Tim McCoy is making westerns for television. Buster Keaton is a gag man and actor at MGM; Monte Blue does character parts at Warners. Ralph Graves and Sally Eilers were recently making acting comebacks.

Norma Talmadge is married to a Las Vegas doctor and Constance to a New York Broker. Taylor Homes does character roles on the stage and screen. Sue Carol became an agent and managed her husband to fame. His name: Alan Ladd.

Workman Is Buried Alive In Concrete Reservoir Collapse

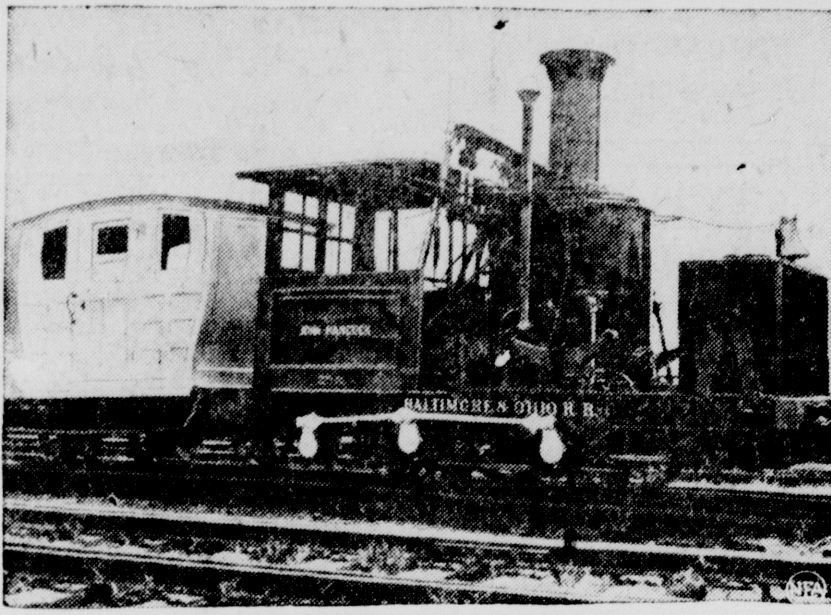

Santa Monica, California (P)—A 62-year-old workman — his first day on the new job — was buried alive under 300,000 pounds of freshly-poured concrete in the collapse of the roof of a five million gallon city reservoir.

The roof fell Monday with a thunderous roar, slightly injuring 14 other workmen. The body of Robert Lacey, 62, of nearby Venice, was dug out of the debris after three hours of frantic work by 50 men. The reservoir is being built for Santa Monica. Lacey was pushing a wheelbarrow directly under the forms when it gave way. The others were atop the roof or nearby.

Clifford Kohler, Santa Monica resident engineer, said some of the underpinnings snapped and set up a chain reaction, causing the flat, nine inch thick concrete area to go down.

"Permalube is 10 ways better"

—the all-round long-lasting motor oil"

TO BE CLASSED as premium, a motor oil must have certain proved qualities designated by the American Petroleum Institute. In simple terms, a premium motor oil must be fortified against harmful changes during use—changes which cause varnish, sludge, and bearing corrosion.

When you buy Permalube, you get a motor oil that fully meets these requirements—and then goes out and beats them 10 ways! It's the all-round, long-lasting, premium-plus motor oil.

In the engine of your car, Permalube never quits. It's long on mileage and short on acid-forming tendency. It actually keeps your engine clean. It fights heat, it wards off wear and greatly lengthens engine life. It cuts oil consumption to the bone!

When you buy premium-price oil, why not get premium-plus quality?

Says Fed. Reserve Man

Optimism over general business prospects for the current year, tempered with disappointment over failure on the part of the government to reduce our national debt at a time when it was best able to do so, and thus assure a high level of sustained prosperity, was expressed by J. Marvin Peterson, of the research department of the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, at a meeting of the Manistique Rotary club Monday evening.

Mr. Peterson, whose duties take him all over the country, stated that he saw no evidences of depression in the offing and that while there was evidence that "the pipelines are getting full," he felt definitely certain that there would be no depression this year.

The financial structure of America, he said, is the soundest in the history of the country, and our monetary system is extremely elastic and can withstand any strain this country may place upon it.

Our national government, however, he said, had lacked the intestinal fortitude to meet a situation which last year called for retrenchment in government expenditures and lowering our national debt. This, he said, has "jeopardized our chances for a high level of prosperity."

Concerning support prices on farm commodities he said that he regarded the policy as detrimental to the best interests of national stability because it encourages more and more production of commodities that are fast glutting the market. He suggested conservation practices as more economically sound. Congress, he said, had passed the law "and we are stuck with it." He confessed that he had nothing to suggest as to how we might ease ourselves out of the dilemma.

The national debt should be reduced in years when the country is prosperous and we have wasted our opportunities.

He defended as sound the government policy of hoarding gold, stating that if this was not done, our gold reserve would go into hiding and disappear and our national currency, which is backed by our gold reserve would shrink hopelessly in value. He added that there isn't any serious threat of inflation.

The meeting, which was held at the Paul Bunyan Cook Camp and was sponsored by the Rotary club was also attended by the Manistique Lions club and special guests invited by the Rotarians. The speaker was introduced by Russell Watson.

COUNCIL HAS
QUIET SESSIONMany Routine Matters Disposed Of

Many matters of a routine nature were disposed of at Monday evening's session of the Manistique city council, the chief of which was the passage, on its first reading, of the new milk ordinance.

This measure, which is patterned after a model ordinance drawn by the state department of agriculture, was subjected to a few minor changes and alterations, but is practically the same as the originally suggested measure. The proposed clause to restrict sale of pasteurized milk to local processing plants was not included in the measure. Two more readings will be required to make the ordinance effective.

The matter of building a small structure near the city shops to serve as a dog pound was disclosed and is expected to receive favorable consideration at the next meeting. Present quarters maintained for that purpose are not deemed adequate.

A request for transfer of Resort B license from Merle Heyden and Joseph Schon to Phyllis H. Schon, was granted.

Licenses of all present liquor dealers, now up for renewal, were approved.

Wilfred Eck, ice dealer, was assured of a lease of five years on the building owned by the city and used by him as an ice house. He was also given a permit to build an addition to the structure.

John Neif was granted a permit to build a sidewalk facing his property in the 700 Block of Manistique avenue.

A new street light was ordered installed at Terrace and Cherry streets.

Special assessments on property abutting the New Elm and Bear streets were given their first reading.

A permit was granted the First National Bank to install new windows at the south and east of the bank building.

The Masonic Temple Association of Manistique was granted a permit to put in new fronts at the Eat Shop and Cliff's Market—both establishments being renters of the ground floor of the temple.

Brought before Justice of the Peace W. C. Stephens, Kepsel was ordered held and delivered to the custody of the sheriff under $1,000 bond and his examination was set for April 18. Bail was provided.

Former Minister
Here Inherits
Fortune, But—

England, which has received many billions of America's hard earned dollars, has gone to great pains to see that none of it gets back here.

A former resident of Manistique is sadly aware of that fact because he has just inherited a huge wad of English money but cannot spend any of it unless he spends it in England.

The Rev. Percy Lomas, former pastor of the First Methodist church in Manistique, but now of Willis, recently received word that he had inherited $30,000.

The money was left him by an aunt who died recently at her home in Peterboro, England, and there's the catch. The money, with the exception of a comparatively few dollars, cannot be spent outside of England. All he will be able to bring out of that country is $500 in goods, duty free, and $20 in cash.

So the day after Easter, Rev. Lomas will fly to London. He plans to visit a sister and his mother-in-law in Peterboro, tour Europe by air and then return to Michigan.

"I'm going to buy a new suit and I guess that's all I'll get out of it," he is reported as saying.

INDIA PLANS CENSUS

New Delhi, India (AP)—Printing presses will soon start turning out the first of nearly 400 million forms to be used in the 1951 census. The census tentatively is scheduled to begin March 31, 1951. Preparations are being made on an estimate that the population will total about 340 millions.

In 1941, six years before this subcontinent was partitioned, the population totaled 339 millions. Census officials estimate that 330 millions now live in India and about 80 millions in Pakistan.

DiMaggio Goes To Hospital Again

Baltimore, April 13 (P)—Johns Hopkins hospital surgeons prepared to take another look today at Joe DiMaggio's heel—the heel which means so much to the New York Yankees' pennant chances.

The big slugger may be here for 10 days or more. He will be lost to his club for the season certain unless he is able to return Tuesday—but Joe has no thoughts of retiring from the game.

When he checked in at the hospital, shortly before 2 a. m., he said he was "dead tired" after a flight from Texas and declined to answer any questions.

It was the $100,000-a-year centerfielder's fifth trip to Johns

Hopkins in two years.

In 1947, a bone growth, or "spur" was taken from his left heel.

Before the 1958 season, Dr. George Bennett removed bone chips from his throwing arm. Joe seemed to be well mended until the closing weeks of last season. Then his right heel started to pain.

He finished the season, and came back to Hopkins. On November 15, Dr. Bennett removed a bone spur which had developed on his right heel.

When spring practice started last month, he flew up from Florida when he found the heel hurting again. Dr. Bennett looked at it, pronounced it in good shape, and sent him back again.

Joe's latest trouble started Saturday at Beaumont, Texas, where he bruised a thigh sliding into third base. The heel began to ache.

Dr. T. M. Girard, a Dallas specialist, gave him a four-hour examination, and then packed him off by air to Baltimore yesterday.

Both Dr. Bennett and Dr. Girard said they believe time and treatment will put the star's right heel in playing shape.

Dr. Bennett said he did not plan to operate.

Porterfield Of Yanks Hurls No-Hit No-Run Game—A 10-0 Beauty

Terre Haute, Ind., April 13 (P)—There's a silver lining in every dark cloud. In the case of the New York Yankees, the silver lining is Sophomore Bob Porterfield, who now has pitched 15 2/3 hitless innings.

Porterfield lifted some of the gloom that enshrouded the Yankee party at Fort Worth, Tex., yesterday over the departure of Joe DiMaggio. DiMaggio, key to Yankee flag hopes, left the team for Baltimore for another examination of his troublesome right heel.

The 24-year-old pitcher carved a 10-0 no-hit no-run triumph over Fort Worth of the Texas League yesterday in Fort Worth. The game was called after eight innings to allow the Yanks to en-train for Terre Haute, where they meet the local three eye league team today.

Porterfield, who pitched a 2-0 one-hitter against the Cincinnati Reds his last time out, faced only 27 cats, three above the minimum.

The big right-hander, fanned seven and walked two. The other cat got on base via an error by Shortstop Jerry Coleman.

The masterpiece was the first in spring play since Murry Dickson, then with the St. Louis Cardinals, pitched a 7-0 no-hit no-run triumph over the Yanks last March 30 at St. Petersburg, Fla.

'Crazy Legs' Wants To Join the Packers

Green Bay, Wis., April 13 (P)—Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch, former star back at Michigan and Wisconsin, would like to play with the Green Bay Packers and the Packers would like to have him.

The obstacle—although they may not know it—is the Los Angeles Rams.

While in the Marine Corps, Hirsch was drafted by the National Football League's Cleveland Rams and the All-America conference's Chicago Rockets. He signed with the Rockets, now the Hornets, and played three years. Meanwhile, the Cleveland franchise was moved to Los Angeles.

Hirsch's three-year contract with the Rockets was for $10,000 a year, but he was working as a salesman with headquarters in Milwaukee. His home is in Wausau, Wis., and he has said he'd like to stay there as a player with the Packers.

"I've talked with Hirsch," said Packers General Manager E. L. (Curly) Lambeau, "but we're still in exactly that stage—talking. I could use him, but the Rams have draft rights to him and I'd have to reach some kind of an agreement with them before I could sign him."

His lifetime record against the Cubs is 23 victories and six losses.

Memphis, April 13 (P)—Chuck Comiskey, young vice-president of the Chicago White Sox, thinks the American league tailenders of 1948 must develop a winning complex. He has backed up Manager Jack Onslow's demands that the Sox "bear down every minute" in exhibitions to gain a victory.

Comiskey also stresses winning spring practice games because of direct bearing on advance ticket sales at home. He says advance sales would be off as much as $2,000 on days after news of another Sox defeat reached Chicago as compared to days following a victory.

Atlanta, Ga., April 13 (P)—Unless double-play matters change for the better, the sacrifice hunt probably will remain the keystone of the Philadelphia Athletics' attack.

The players may argue against it, and even Manager Connie Mack concedes the sacrifice usually reduces the possibility of a big inning, but he has figures to prove that other methods of producing runs are too risky.

Against 26 double plays and one three-py killing in spring exhibition games the A's themselves have been the victims of 29 double plays.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to all the kind relatives, neighbors and friends who assisted us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, John Kallman, Sr. We are very grateful to Rev. C. V. S. Engstrom for his comforting words and other manifestations of sympathy to the pallbearers, to those who furnished their cars, sent floral offerings, and to all others who aided us in so many ways. The memory of these acts of kindness will always remain with us.
